Adair County Recorder, Auditor, & Engineer's Office Places Thousands of Records Online

Adair County, Iowa – April 24, 2023, Janelle Schneider, County Recorder, announced today that the Adair County Recorder, Auditor & Engineer's Office have completed an extensive digitization project, placing thousands of records online. These offices and the public now have secure, remote access to data and images 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Digitizing provides a valuable public service by providing convenient access to information without needing to handle the original documents that are often fragile. Offering online access to records eliminates the need to travel to the office, helping to protect constituents during public health emergencies. By digitizing these documents, the Department Heads also ensure that the County's valuable records are preserved and backed up electronically in case of disaster.

The County partnered with Cott Systems to scan and organize the records using Cott's Online Index Books software.

Records are now digitally available and searchable online by visiting <https://recordhub.cottsystems.com>
